EEO celebrates a great start to 2015-2016 school year.

EEO continues to provide critically needed literacy and special needs services to the communities across Harbour Island and Eleuthera.

Our small group pull-out programs serve over 150 students this year. Seminar speakers and therapists educate teachers and parents of how to best help struggling learners.

For more detailed information please check out our recent 2014-2016 EEO Progress Report

Exciting News!

Although EEO students are happy and learning outside in this picture, our MUCH needed expanded EEO resource room at Harbour Island All Age School is almost finished!

It will be the home to the generous supply of books donated by The Freedom to Read Foundation, as well as a professional development library for all teachers.

The Gift of Learning Differently

By Cristina Hamel

I was diagnosed with learning disabilities in the 5th grade.

Before, school was a struggle

EEO staff shared ideas, goals, and success stories to motivate us all for the upcoming school year. From left to right:

- EEO Co-Director: Gaby Hudson
- EEO teacher at North Eleuthera Primary:
 Jennie Charles
- EEO Founder and Director: Lang Hudepohl
- EEO teacher at Governors Harbour Primary: Maureen Keonig
- (new!) EEO teacher at Harbour Island Primary: Sonja Casteel
- EEO teacher at Tarpum Bay Primary: Joanne Cambridge
- EEO teacher for high school students at Harbour Island All Age: Kathy Brown

"EEO depends on the generous support of those individuals and families that care about the future of Harbour Island and Eleuthera.

Children are the future and we have to continue to show them that we believe in them!

Thank you always for all you do to help us keep EEO running strong for all these years."

and frustrating and I did not enjoy going. After getting help, I learned what I had was not a "disability", just a different way to learn things. Once I was given the tools to learn my way, things got a lot easily and my confidence grew. I started to love school again.

I was equipped with the right tools to succeed and individualized instruction in High School and College and I excelled.

I acknowledge my strengths and my weakness, and focused on my strengths. I am creative person and that is where drew my attention. Realizing that I redirected my long term goals.

I am currently the Director of Corporate of Events for a financial firm in New York City and have been for the past 16 years and have started my own Event Planning Business.

I was consistently reminded to "Believe in myself" and that "Nothing is Impossible".

Don't let anyone one tell you can't do something - you can, you just may need to get there differently than others.
